Re: In the Matter of Telephone Number Portability, CC Docket No. 95-116

Dear Ms. Dortch:

On November 5, 2003, Cronan O'Connell of Qwest Communications International Inc. ("Qwest"), accompanied by Jon Nuechterlein of Wilmer, Cutler and Pickering and Gary Phillips of SBC, met with Linda Kinney, Jeffrey Dygert, Sharon Diskin, Mary McManus and Debra Weiner of the Office of General Counsel, Federal Communications Commission, to discuss intermodal Local Number Portability ("LNP").

In particular, Qwest and SBC discussed the fact that any rule change from the current LNP porting definition of porting within the rate center and its associated criteria¹ to any new definition and associated criteria requires a notice of proposed rulemaking by the Commission followed by an adequate transition to ensure a nationally uniform implementation under the oversight of the North American Numbering Council ("NANC") as directed by the Commission in 47 C.F.R. § 52.26(b)(3) of the Commission's Rules. For example, Qwest shared with the Commission an area code map of the Qwest 14-state area to demonstrate that any new LNP definition and associated criteria would have to be carefully vetted with the industry given that random decisions, like porting within area codes, holds many technical as well as interLATA implications that the Commission has yet to thoroughly address with the industry let alone delegate to NANC to determine the technical means to implement nationally as to avoid customer confusion regarding when a customer can or can not port to a wireline or wireless carrier.

¹ Today for purposes of porting within the rate center, both the customer's physical address as well as the customer's telephone number must be in the same rate center.
